Explore CU's Campus and The Hill

The University of Colorado's campus is beautiful in any season, and you should continue looking at beauty at the CU Art Museum. Check out the Hit the Bricks LEGO exhibit before stopping by Albums on the Hill, a record store more than 30 years old. End the afternoon at Innisfree Poetry Cafe and Bookstore, where the coffee is always flowing.

DINNER

Cafe Aion

The traditional Spanish tapa is a simple but beautiful offering. Its presentation is honest and straightforward, its preparation a tribute to the craft and techniques developed over centuries in...

Insider's Tip
Cutthroat Kitchen: Cafe Aion's chef, Dakota Soifer, was the champion chef in season four of Cutthroat Kitchen.

ACTIVITY

Fox Theatre

Since its original construction in 1926, the Fox Theatre has been a vaudeville theatre, a dance hall and even a cafeteria. Today, it's as a popular stop for national touring bands and up-and-coming artists, with an intimate seating capacity of just 625. Rolling Stone magazine called it one of the best small venues in the country. Check the theatre's site to see who's playing when.
